

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A breathing product with an electric component has power supplied in a simple manner, without restriction of the freedom of movement of the user of the device. The breathing product has an electric connection for contacting the electric component (5) in the connection area between the breathing connection (3) and the breathing gas source (7).